SWIMMING POOL
CAMPAIGN GOES
FORWARD TODAYCommittees Report They Meet with Encouraging Response in Solicitation

TO FINISH TOMORROW

Value of Pool to Girls of the City as Well as Boys is Emphasized

The name of every contributor to the swimming pool fund will be preserved, the committee announced today. The names will be placed on a special tablet and placed in the corner-stone of the pool when it is dedicated. With support continuing tomorrow as it has today work will be under way in ten days, the committee announced.

The campaign for the swimming pool started out well today. Committees found the sentiment as they expected—people are heartily in favor of the pool and are willing to make some financial sacrifice to give it to the boys and girls of the city. Reports on the campaign were made at a luncheon at 1 o'clock, at the Elks hall. Busy committees hardly stopped long enough to grab a bite to eat before resuming a task they found not unpleasant because of the manner in which they were received.

The campaign will end tomorrow night, the Elks believe. There may be some visits after that as they want to bring every person in the city into the campaign for the support of the pool.

Generous $10, $15, $25 and $50 contributions were reported, many persons indicating a willingness to more than meet the average of $10 for each family in the city, necessary to make the campaign a success.

Although the protection accorded the boys of the city through having a pool where there are trained attendants has been emphasized, yet the pool will be as much for the young girls of the city as for the boys, and adults will have pleasure splashing in it, too.

WOULD GO HUNGRY
Many unusual incidents were reported by the workers at their luncheon.

A committee approached one home, a very modest home. The mother gave $2.00.

"That's all I have to live on the rest of the week," she said, "but I've two children and I can't watch them all day because I work and I want that swimming pool."

The committee forced the woman to take back her $2 and added a couple more, but the spirit stirred them on.

A committee finished a downtown building and met the manager of an insurance agency outside. In talking a member of the committee remarked that the man already had given $25 to the boys and they didn't solicit him.

"Why, I told those boys I'd go to a hundred if necessary," the man replied.

Such incidents were numerous. The committeemen repeated any number of similar experiences and were greatly encouraged by the spirit of the citizens.

Value to Girls.
"Swimming is excellent exercise for girls because it brings so many of the muscles into play," said Mrs. Fannie Dunn Quinn, asked to express her views. "It inspires courage and confidence in self besides cultivating harmony of motion which we commonly call 'grace.' Many girls are surprised to discover the endurance they develop in the water. This knowledge of their limitations is a fine thing for them to know before planning their life work. The troop of Girl Scouts are keenly interested in the prospect of a swimming pool. They, like the boys, have certain water stunts to perform before they can reach the top in the organization and this will be their opportunity. The girls are helping and boosting and will help the completion of the 'Swimming Hole' with great joy."

MISS NELLIE T. HOLT.

Square Butte, Mont., May 27.—"Quit! Not I," declares Miss Nellie T. Holt. She filed a claim last year and built a two-room house. Only the well was left on the place when she returned this spring after spending the winter here, editing her paper.

Neighbors could not explain the disappearance of the house. Miss Holt believes cattle interests opposed to her encroaching on grazing land removed it.

"I'll show 'em, she said, as she started to build another house.

The preliminary hearing of William Wyant and Henry Kearns, Northern Pacific detectives, charged with the murder of Fred Johnson, one of the three men who died as a result of the gun battle here west of the railroad yards Sunday afternoon, is being held today before Justice of the Peace Frank Kellogg.

The state is being represented by State's Attorney L. G. Toller, Assistant State's Attorney F. G. Kneeland and Assistant Attorney General C. L. Crum. Attorneys George Thorp, of Jamestown, is representing the defense.

Repeat Testimony.
The morning was taken up with the testimony of Doctors F. G. Tichell, who attended Johnson after the shooting, and George E. McDowell, special agent for the railroad, this testimony being chiefly a repetition of that given at the coroner's inquest.

Attorneys stated that the hearing probably would be continued all afternoon.

Line of march—Second street south to Main; east on Main to Third; north on Third to Broadway; east on Broadway to Fourth south on Fourth to Main; east on Main to Fifth; north on Fifth to Thayer; east on Thayer to Sixth; south on Sixth to the Auditorium.

Bismarck will be decorated from Sunday until next Thursday if the public cooperates as asked by the committees of the American Legion and the Odd Fellows.

The Odd Fellows grand lodge meets in the city on Tuesday, May 31, and Wednesday and Thursday, June 1 and 2. The decorating committees of the American Legion and Odd Fellows have combined their efforts and will decorate the city on Saturday for Memorial Sunday and Memorial Day, and the merchants and others who decorate for these days are asked to allow the decorations to remain in place during the Odd Fellows convention.

Even hundred Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekahs are expected in Bismarck for the meeting of the grand lodge. Bismarck won the convention at Dickinson last year after a sharp fight, and the local lodge hopes to make the convention a real success.

Headquarters will be in Elks' hall. There also will be a registration and rest room over Hoskins' store. Various kinds of entertainment are being planned for the visitors. Among other things it is planned to hold a carnival street dance on the last night of the convention.

Unusual interest is attached to the convention because of the fight being made for the Odd Fellows home. The selection of a site for the home has narrowed down to a few cities, of which Bismarck is one.

MUNITIONS BIGCould Sustain Army For Long Period

Experience in the World War showed, he said, that men could be mobilized and trained faster than munitions could be produced and that it took practically 20 months for the ordnance department to catch up with the army in the field.

Business Soon After Arrival

PRAISES SWIMMING POOL

J. J. MacLeod, who is to supervise boys' work in Bismarck under a three-year program, arrived in the city today and immediately plunged into the business of getting acquainted with the boys of the city. Mr. MacLeod accompanied the Junior and Senior high school boys on a hike this afternoon and plans to get acquainted with every boy in the city as soon as possible.

Mr. MacLeod said that he could not outline an exact program so quickly, but that one of his chief aims would be to cooperate with existing agencies to avoid duplication of effort and to get a program under way that would include all the boys in the city in its scope.

One of the first movements may be a baseball league in the schools, and hikes. Informing of the swimming pool campaign, Mr. MacLeod said:

"That's fine! It is not only a fine thing to know how to swim but it is healthful exercise."

Mr. MacLeod is an expert swimmer. He spent some time in the Hawaiian Islands as a teacher. He also has taught first aid and life saving classes in swimming.

Mr. MacLeod's experience covers a wide field in the United States, Canada and he spent sometime in Cuba. He is an athletic instructor and has been engaged in boys' work for years, until he entered a new field in western Canada in community work.

Mr. MacLeod's family will spend the summer in Toronto and will come to Bismarck in September. Rotarians, who engaged Mr. MacLeod's services for the entire community, will aid him in getting his work under way.

PERRAS FREED
AFTER PLAYING
TAG WITH JAILThree Fines Are Paid Before
Local Man is Released

Leo Perras, of Bismarck, has been playing tag with jail for the last few days.

Today he was free again, after paying three fines totaling approximately $552.85.

Perras was arrested here some days ago. Police charged he was drunk and disorderly. Perras then proceeded to damage the cell at the police station, police charged, and Police Magistrate Cashman fined him and gave him a 30-day suspended sentence.

Perras was let out to get money to pay his fine, and the government officials came along and grabbed him, alleging he had failed to pay a $500 fine assessed against him in federal court last fall for booze running. He was put in jail, and then raised the $500. He was hauled in again today to pay an old fine and costs of $13.95 assessed by Police Magistrate Flanagan and a fine and costs of $38.90 assessed by Police Magistrate Cashman. Friends put up the money and he went free.

FARGO UTILITYSurcharge Matter is Contest in Courts

Fargo, May 27.—The state of North Dakota today opened its suit against the Union Light, Heat and Power company of Fargo and the Red River Power company of Grand Forks to determine whether these were acting legally in adding a charge of 25 per cent to gas and light bills and a 35 cents surcharge for steam.

The company's claimed, increased coal prices made higher charges necessary.

William Lemke, attorney general, attempted to show through testimony of James Calderhead, of Bismarck secretary of the board of railroad commissioners, that a meeting at which the rate increase had been temporarily allowed had been irregular.

FOURTEEN NATIONALITIES ARE REPRESENTED AMONG 37 MEN WHO SEEK ADMISSION TO CITIZENSHIP

Eager expectant faces filled the court room of Judge Nye in today as thirty-seven foreigners sought admission to citizenship in the United States.

One by one they were questioned by Naturalization Examiner Werner, who came from St. Paul to hold naturalization hearings at several places in North Dakota.

Some in halting, broken English found difficulty in answering the questions put to them by the examiner regarding the constitution of the United States, how the president is elected, functions of congress and other questions. Yet some gave replies with ease.

Each foreigner was accompanied by two citizens who were asked if they recommended the man for citizenship. The majority of applicants were from the country and Russians were in the majority. Fourteen nationalities were represented.

As the examination proceeded some of the cases were continued because of the lack of familiarity with the American government and institutions.

As a fitting close to Citizenship day the Thursday Musical club had arranged a program at the court house at 4 o'clock this afternoon in which address by Judge Christensen and musical numbers, including the singing of national anthems, was included.

boys and girls and keeping them out of danger.

An example of the support given the movement is contained in the following resolution adopted last night by the Bismarck local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, and a contribution of $25 from the organization.

Support Movement.

The resolution follows:
"Whereas, there is a movement on to build a swimming pool for the youth of our city.

"Therefore, Be It Resolved by the local union No. 2059 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America in regular meeting assembled that they do hereby heartily support such movement and we further urge our members to give the swimming pool movement their moral and financial support to the furthest extent of their ability, for the following reasons:

"First, because the youth of the city want it and it is necessary they should have it because there is no safe swimming place in the vicinity.

"We further urge our members to remember that it will benefit a class of boys and girls that have not the time and means to take a summer vacation at some distant summer resort.

"And, by building it now it will be the means of providing employment for a number of men, thereby helping to relieve the unemployment situation.

"Be It Further Resolved that we as a union body give $25 to the swimming pool fund.

URGES CAREFUL USE OF BALLOT BY ALL WOMEN

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter Emphasizes Necessity in Public Address

Women were urged to consider seriously the responsibility of the ballot, by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, of Minneapolis, in an address to a large audience in the city auditorium Tuesday night.

Mrs. Winter, who is president of the National Federation of Women's clubs, came to Bismarck and Mandan to attend the district federation meetings. Pointing out the struggle of women to get the ballot, in her address on "Our America," she emphasized the necessity of careful exercise of the franchise thus given.

"Now that there are twice as many voters, we must have twice as much influence. We are entirely willing that the management of affairs political remain where it has been, but we women must strengthen the best impulses and lessen the bad in politics. This is the first age of chivalry."

Sanity toward public questions is the necessary attitude of our new franchise, the speaker said. "The test of a democracy is a great public, and to create a great public the multitudes must understand the social and industrial questions of the day. We, as a people, are apt to run to legislation," continued the speaker, "and there is not enough law-abiding spirit. In the making of laws, there should be a uniform marriage and divorce law, so that people married or divorced in one state may not find their families illegitimate in another. If there were more law abiding there would be less divorce, as one must come to know in visiting the divorce courts of a city. No big things nor great pretensions," she said, "causing those divorces at the rate of one every seven minutes in a day, but petty selfishness, shiftlessness and unwillingness to assume responsibility. Girls must be taught home economics," the speaker said, "so that the earnings brought into the home may be conserved intelligently. The speaker quoted Abbot when he said: "There must be a consecration of the affections" so that children may come to respect their relations toward the family and their parents.

"The home must be the breeding place for citizenship," Mrs. Winter declared, "and it should likewise represent the people who live in it and not what our neighbors think it should represent. In this way may be avoided expenditure beyond one's means and one's needs."

The speaker declared that with twenty-four million women engaged in housekeeping, we should cease to be counted among those "without any occupation." Women should realize their economic value, she said, and conserve that value to the fullest. It should not be frittered away, for instance on dusting something in the house 365 times the year when we do not need the thing. Let us put our energy on something that will do the family some material or spiritual good.

"We club women," Mrs. Winter said, "should stand for Americanization, (in doing, not talking) national budget, public health, public education, and child welfare."

Following Mrs. Winter's address, Mrs. A. S. Bolster sang two numbers, accompanied on piano by Mary Atkinson.

Resolutions adopted by the district meeting were as follows:
Resolved, that we ask the co-operation of the State Board of Immigration to bring only the best class of foreigners into our state and to refrain from placing them in foreign colonies, as we think this detrimental to the best interests of state citizenship.

Resolved, that we heartily endorse the Towner-Sterling bill, which urges that a secretary of education be added to the president's education.

Resolved, that all clubs make a special effort to have appropriate programs, welcoming our newly-made citizens on July 4, designated as "Citizenship Day."

Resolved, that we have been much enlightened and wonderfully entertained by the speakers we have listened to, and by the reports of clubs and we will all return to our clubs with renewed enthusiasm.

Resolved, that we, as members of the Eighth District Federation, wish to extend our thanks to the Bismarck and the Mandan people who have helped entertain the members of this Federation and especially to express our appreciation of the kindness of the ladies who opened their homes to our delegates.

N. D. MEN WILL ATTEND CAMP AT FORT SNELLING

Application in This Section Should be Secured From Dr. E. P. Quain of Bismarck

Between 600 and 1,000 men of the northwest are expected to attend the Citizens' Military Training camp at Fort Snelling, one of twelve such training stations established by the war department throughout the United States, during the month of August. It is estimated by Captain Harry J. Hink, of St. Paul, who has been appointed civilian chairman in charge of recruiting for the snelling, contingent, Dr. E. P. Quain is chairman for this section.

"Upon the size of the appropriation received from the federal government depends whether Fort Snelling will be able to accommodate 600 or 1,000 men," Captain Hink declared. "The present appropriation will take care of only about 600 men, but the government has been asked for more money to make possible training a larger number of men."

Fort Snelling has been designated as one of the two camps in the Seventh Army Corps Area for the training during the month of August of any man between the ages of 18 to 35, and all candidates from Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, will be housed there. Men from Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri, the remaining states in the Seventh Corps area, will go to Camp Pike, Ark.

Training is given free of charge by the government, and all expenses, including transportation, are paid. No service obligations are connected with the men after the month's stay in camp. The camp is open to all men between 18 and 35 years of age who are of sound character, intelligence and physical condition. The first requisite is regarded by army officials as the most important in obtaining admittance to the camp.

"Each candidate will have to file a certificate of good character, signed by a school teacher, clergyman, priest or rabbi," Captain Hink said. "We will absolutely insist on good character as one of the qualifications for entrance into the camp, and all applications will be carefully scrutinized so that Fort Snelling will have the best in clean cut, high type men."

Men expecting to attend the camp will fill out applications containing the general routine questions as well as queries as to former military service and vaccination, and character, certified by a school teacher, clergyman, priest or rabbi, and physical examination at the place of application.

"Three courses of instruction, the Red, White and Blue, are open to the men," explained Captain Hink. "The Red Course provides just basic training; the white course will continue the training of those wishing to become non-commissioned officers of the Reserve Corps and the blue course which will train men to become reserve officers."

If his application is acted upon favorably, the candidate will come to Fort Snelling and pay his fare, but upon arrival at the camp, the government will reimburse him to the amount of 5 cents a mile, which will cover transportation expenses and meals. Clothing and all equipment is furnished gratis.

"The primary aim of the camp will be concerned with the physical well-being and development of those who attend," the recruiting chairman asserted. "Citizenship will be stimulated, and the camp will promote patriotism and Americanism, as well as benefit the young men individually through expert physical training."

"Full provision will be made for wholesome and interesting entertainment in the form of lectures, moving picture programs, amateur and professional musical and dramatic entertainment."

Reserve officers throughout the various states in the Seventh area have been requested by Captain Hink to aid and co-operate with persons planning to enroll in the camp. They have been asked to help applicants fill out the proper forms as well as select men of good character, Mr. Hink said.

Although military clothing and equipment will be furnished each man, he is expected to bring one piece of hand luggage containing shaving and toilet articles, four suits of underwear, two pairs of pajamas, six pairs of socks, six handkerchiefs, four face towels, and two bath towels. Those musically inclined are urged to bring their instruments.

As regular army recruiting has been suspended, public health stations in every county in the states and county agents have been furnished with application blanks and the desired information, and the public health service has announced it will co-operate fully with the government in helping young men get to the civilian camps. Mr. Hink said. Members of the National Guard will submit their applications through military channels, he said. Applicants under 18 years must have permission from their guardian or parents, the rules state.

AMERICAN ACE IN CRASH BUT KEEPS GOING

Rickenbacher Hopes to Make Washington in Mail Airplane

Omaha, Neb., May 27.—Eddie Rickenbacher, American ace, arrived here at 11:53 a. m. from Cheyenne in an air mail plane.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 27.—Eddie Rickenbacher, American ace, resumed his transcontinental flight here at 6 o'clock this morning as a passenger in a mail plane piloted by Charles Pickupp.

At Omaha Rickenbacher intends to take command of the ship and drive to Washington. Before taking off this morning he inspected the machine wrecked last night. Examination of the ground where he landed gave evidence of a good landing made near the center of the field. After touching the ground his ship ran about 800 feet before it smashed into a gully wrecking his landing gear.

Officials declared today the flaming "T" light for guidance at the end of the field was improperly located, causing Rickenbacher to land with the wind.

MANDAN NEWS

CLUB MEET EVENTS PROVE BIG SUCCESS

Banquet and Benefit Concert
Are Enjoyed by Large Crowd of Delegates

The pretty dining room of the Lewis and Clark hotel formed a nice background for the delicately appointed tables and profusion of lovely blossoms at the banquet of the 7th District of Women's Federated clubs Wednesday evening.

Covers were laid for 123 persons and a group of young ladies under the leadership of Miss Jean Stutsman supplemented the regular force in serving.

The federation colors, Nile green and white were used with charming effect both in menu and decorations and the Mandan orchestra furnished music suitable to the occasion.

Mrs. Robert Wilson of the Great Plains station proved a well poised and most interesting speaker, and toasts were ably responded to by the following women: "Learners and Litters" by Mrs. Spire of Bowman; "Keeping Up With Our Daughters," Mrs. Erlanson of Hettinger; "Who's the Best Two for a Club Women's Husband," Mrs. Hart of Carson; "Come Out of the Kitchen," Mrs. O'Neill of Hettinger.

The lovely gowns, lively music and clever toasts all combined to form a very pleasing atmosphere of club womanhood. In the course of her remarks during the evening, Mrs. Wilson quoted a saying of William Allen White to the effect that Americans were wonderful men to organize and that if three men were to fall out of a balloon, they would elect a president, secretary and treasurer on the way down and land as an executive committee. There is no doubt but that women are just as efficient organizers, as the success of the various club functions prove. Especial credit is due the various committees who were in charge.

A finely representative audience greeted the Mandan Musical club in their maiden program since their reorganization, last evening at the Presbyterian church.

The three chorus numbers, Strauss' "Greeting to Spring," "Where My Caravan Has Rested," by Lohr, and "The Heavens Are Telling," of Hadya, with piano and pipe organ accompaniment were beautifully rendered by the chorus of sixty well trained voices under the direction of F. G. Gale, and were most enthusiastically applauded. Piano numbers by Miss Helen Stahler and a pipe organ prelude and selection by E. H. Tostevin were encored very heartily, a group of solos from "Elijah," by Misses Celia and Florence Connolly were wonderfully done and Ray, Hugh Owen interpreted the story of the oratorio in a most sincere and impressive manner. "Spirit Flower" sung by Miss Audrey Miller, and "Invictus," by Scott Conyne brought forth delighted encores, as did a Chopin selection on the piano by Mrs. Ward of Dickinson.

Mrs. John Lisk of Dickinson, who was in splendid voice, acceptably filled two places on the program and was forced to respond to repeated encores as was Mrs. A. P. Nachtway also of that city, who charmed her audience with a group of Irish songs, done in her own inimitable way.

The audience awarded a round of applause to Mrs. E. G. Wheeler, our "dean" of music and to Mrs. C. C. McLean, the club president. Much deserved credit is given to Mrs. E. R. Griffen, chairman of the program committee and to Mr. Tostevin and Mrs. Domeyer, accompanists, whose work assisted greatly in perfecting a most delightful entertainment.

Mr. Frank Helmsworth, formerly a Mandan boy, is visiting his people here this week. Mr. Helmsworth is now making his home in Valley City, where he is connected with a wholesale grocery.

Visiting Mother.
Miss Elsie Stark is visiting in Mandan with her mother, Mrs. Anna Stark of Third Ave. N. W. Miss Stark is now working directly out of Fargo to different corners of the state, in connection with her work at the Agricultural college.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quartet pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

Victim of "Latest Impulse"

MRS. JOSEPH S. HEIL.

Why Chicago Banker's Wife Turned Thief

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Chicago, May 25.—The most peculiar case which has come before the psychiatric laboratory of municipal court will probably be the easiest to diagnose.

This is the case of Mrs. Joseph S. Heil, wife of a rich banker, who has confessed to stealing household furnishings valued at $25,000 from fashionable homes, after disguising herself and obtaining employment as a housemaid. She is about 40 and soon will give birth to another child.

Dr. William J. Hickson, the director of the laboratory and a criminologist of world-wide reputation, declines to pass upon Mrs. Heil's particular case until it is officially laid before him, but talking hypothetically, he says:

"The conjunction of the two circumstances—middle life and approaching maternity—is a frequent cause of mental derangement. This condition is often only temporary, and a complete cure may be effected by proper treatment.

"It's through weakening of the will by physical and mental conditions that some latent impulse—possibly never even known to exist by the victim—becomes the dominating factor in one's acts."

It's the same sort of thing that some psychologists hold all persons are subject to the dual personality, one which we live, the other dormant and probably inherited from some forbear generations back.

Mrs. Heil had no reason to steal. She had a beautiful home, an indulgent husband, four loving children, servants, a car and chauffeur and a personal allowance of $300 a month. Her arrest startled Chicago, but none any more than her immediate family, who had accepted her story that the goods she brought home were bought at auction sales. Because they wished to indulge her they never questioned her.

"I never knew I had taken the things until I saw them in my home," says Mrs. Heil. "Then I was terrified."

Dr. Hickson says kleptomania is seldom due to a condition like Mrs.

Hell's is at present, but he says an unbalanced mental condition is not infrequent. Pending trial, Mrs. Heil is being cared for in a sanitarium.

LAYS CLAIM TO PORTION OF N. D. BANKERS ESTATE

Devils Lake, N. D., May 27.—Mrs. Bertha Abbey Ross, of St. Paul, claiming she is a daughter of the late Erick Lysne, banker and farmer of Church's Ferry, N. D., though born out of wedlock in Norway, is in Devils Lake today attempting to get a share of the $110,000 estate left by Lysne, who died intestate two years ago. The case is being heard before County Judge H. W. Swenson.

According to Mrs. Ross' story, her mother, Bertha A. Bjorkum and Lysne were youthful sweethearts in Loerdale, Norway, and that they intended to get married. The two had gone together for years, she says, but Bertha was born before a marriage ceremony was performed. The mother and daughter came to America when the latter was eight years old, and two years later Lysne himself came to this country, settling in North Dakota. The three soon afterwards met in Laramie, this state, where, it is said, he acknowledged the girl as his own daughter. However, he gave the mother a $500 second mortgage on his homestead in Nelson county, and she went to St. Paul, but later lost the mortgage through a foreclosure of the first mortgage on the property. She and her daughter remained in St. Paul, where the mother died, the daughter still living there.

Lysne moved to Church's Ferry where he again took up farming. He became prosperous and married. Lysne, before his death, was one of Church's Ferry's most influential citizens, was president for a number of Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

IN a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

WANTED TWO MILLION HUSBANDS

There are two million women in England today compelled to go through life unmarried because there are no men for them to marry!

What are they going to do with themselves?

Is the "right to motherhood" doctrine gaining ground? Or will these two million surplus women find happiness in a "transmuted" motherhood?

Ida Clyde Clarke, who has just returned from England, discusses the whole burning question in Pictorial Review for June.

TO MAKE YOU BEAUTIFUL

Rachel, famous French actress, who visited America in the time of Jenny Lind, was at the height of her success in 1850.

As a girl she was undersized and ugly, with a face she said was like a comic mask. Yet Theophil Gautier, the novelist, later said, "She is wonderfully fair."

What made the change?

She says it was through a revelation that came to her in her first sight of the statuary in the Louvre.

She went back many times as if to absorb their beauty through her eyes.

"I've wanted to be beautiful, and they say I've become so," she said, at the height of her fame. "I learned more among those busts and figures than I ever learned at the conservatory. It was as though the beauty and dignity of those figures passed into my soul, and became a part of myself."

Here's an unusual recipe. Perhaps it would take an actress to employ it. But many feel they have the necessary sensibility. The great actress' recipe for beauty might be worth trying. Similar opportunities are available even to those who cannot visit art museums like the Louvre.

You can't get rid of a war politician. Vote him out of office and he begins publishing his memoirs.

FACTORY 6000 YEARS OLD

Ruins of a large ammunition factory, in which workers made stone axes for warfare 6000 years ago, have been dug up in Wales.

"The factory covered hundreds of acres," reports S. Hazzledine Warren in a lecture before the Royal Anthropological Society in London. "We found a big scrap pile—stone axes finished but broken by a last blow."

This is one of the earliest known instances of men banding together to work.

What caused primitive men to pool their labor? The same thing that causes wolves to run in packs—war.

Quite likely the slaves went to war while the profiteer of that day stayed at home bossing the ax factory.

The extent of man's progress can be measured by comparing motives behind that Welsh stone-munitions factory of 400 B. C. with those behind the steel-munitions factories of recent years.

That progress isn't much to brag about.

History repeats—basically, it never changes. We merely do the old things with new devices.

War seems to be as firmly implanted in man of today as it was 6000 years ago.

Civilization is savagery—plus intellect.

Nor do the causes of wars change. Take that primitive stone-ax factory in Wales. What were its workers arming for? Possibly two chiefs had a row over a woman. Or one chief said his rival resembled a cross-eyed dinosaur. But it's a pretty sure gamble that most primitive wars were for possession of the best hunting ground.

Trade wars, we call such things today.

Scarcity of prohibition enforcement agents; however, comes at a time when there's not much left to transport.

HOW WILL THE WORLD END?

This mysterious earth on which you live, ultimately will become completely covered with thick ice.

That's the prediction, not of an ice man, but of a competent scientist, Joseph McCabe, in a recent book. It's one of many theories. Others include predictions that the earth may end by colliding with a star—or explode from internal heat.

McCabe's theory is of unusual interest, by reason of its bearing on the notion you probably have, that "the climate's changing."

The world, says McCabe, already has had five Ice Ages—during which glacial caps of ice moved down from the North Pole like advancing flat-irons, melting before they reached the equator.

The interior of the earth, under the 50-mile-deep rust on which you live, is supposed to be a molten mass. But it's cooling steadily.

Finally, McCabe predicts, will come an Ice Age that will be permanent.

"From the astronomical point of view, our globe is already dead, or has, at the most, a feeble pulse of vitality. The heart of our world (the sun) is 92,000,000 miles away. As long as the sun maintains its vitalizing stream above a certain level, we live. Will the heart fail? Will the cold rigor of death one day rob earth of its color and movement? The question is not if, but when."

Time was, says McCabe, when the whole world was tropical.

Successive Ice Ages brought winter as a permanent institution—about 5,000,000 years ago.

The last Ice Age left permanent ice-sheets at the Poles, 2,000,000 years ago, and brought a broad temperate latitude and changing seasons.

The date at which McCabe expects the earth to become permanently covered with ice is about 6,000,000 years hence.

No immediate cause for worry.

But the earth, in terms of those enormous periods by which science measures time, grows steadily colder.

How would you like to be the last man alive on earth, retreating before the advancing ice?

WHAT THE POLES MUST LEARN

The newspapers of Poland, in a frenzy of anger, are threatening that "an army of Polish heroes will be remobilized to fight Great Britain, Germany, anybody or everybody."

The grouch of the Poles, as reflected in their newspapers, is directed particularly at Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, who is denounced as "arrogant, impudent and brutal."

The head and front of Lloyd George's offending, from the Polish standpoint, is that he insists that Poland keep her treaty pledges and desist from a course of action which, if persisted in, bids fair to involve Europe in another war.

After making every possible allowance for the many injustices which Poland has suffered during the centuries, even her most sympathetic partisans must admit that since she took her place in the family of nations under the peace treaty, she has given many evidences of unwillingness to "play the game."

One of the things Poland has got to learn is to forget the past and to recognize that the rights she acquired under the treaty are valid only to the degree that she is willing to assume the obligations that go with them.

The first of these obligations is to help re-establish peace and good feeling in central Europe.

This can be done by manifesting a spirit of accommodation and compromise.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may, or may not, express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may be both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

"AND YET I KICK"

I am writing this in the living room of my home, on a typewriter that weighs no more than a modern-sized book. Light is provided by a lamp in which burn two incandescent bulbs. In an adjoining room is a telephone from which I can talk to any city on this continent. On the wall is a thermostat which regulates the flow of gas in my furnace, and keeps the room at an even temperature of 70 degrees. A music cabinet contains records of the finest arias from the best operas, and selections by the greatest musicians in the world I can hear this music, leaning back in a comfortable chair while I smoke a cigar, and I don't have to defer to anyone in making up my program for the evening.

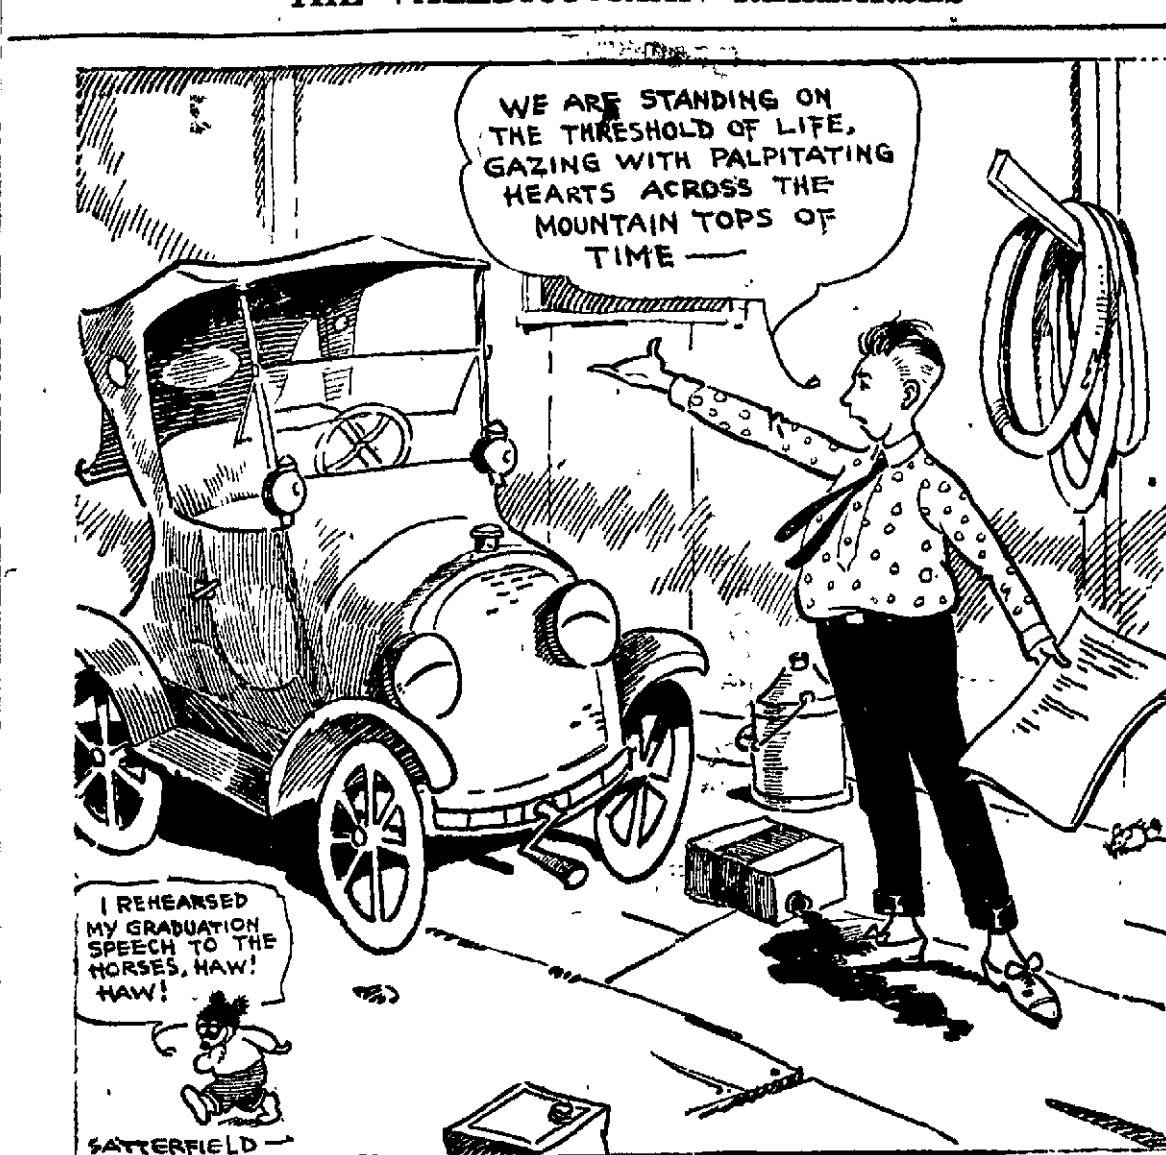

Almost within arm's reach are several shelves of books filled with the most profound and beautifully expressed thoughts of the ages. I can spend an hour with Benjamin Franklin and absorb the homely wisdom of that great age; I can enjoy the sparkling tales by the three masters of the short story: O. Henry, Guy de Maupassant and Rudyard Kipling. I can laugh with Mark Twain or philosophize with Herbert Spencer. I can follow Gibson and see the great Roman empire spread itself over the known world and then watch it crumble because its people could not stand prosperity.

For a few cents a day I have delivered to my home the news from the four corners of the world. The floors of my home are cleaned with a suction sweeper, while the clothes are put through an electric washer and ironed in an electric mangle. My children attend a school where they are given a better education than the sons of kings could command a century ago.

I go to work in a machine which some people call an automobile, and I travel a distance in three-quarters of an hour which would have been an all-day trip for my father, a generation ago. I enjoy all these things and yet I am just an ordinary citizen with an ordinary income, living in an ordinary way. Tens of thousands have just as much as I—and more.

And yet I kick and wonder what ails the world. Were the good things of life ever so easily at the command of ordinary man as they are today? To be perfectly frank, don't we all do a lot of weeping that we haven't any right to do? And if we aren't careful, isn't there danger that we will upset the greatest civilization the world has ever known?—From the Jayhaw.

THE VALEDICTORIAN REHEARSES

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

He had all kinds of contraptions for making weather as well as keeping it.

Away up in the sky, lives Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the fairy weather-man. His house is on a star as are all of his warehouses, where he keeps barrels of winds, showers, sun-rays, moon-rays, frost, snow flurries and what not stored away for use. Stars are queer things as well as beautiful. In this way, they keep you guessing and wondering. Some are whole worlds like ours, some are houses where fairy-folk live and some are just bright little fairies themselves twinkling down at you and wanting to be friends. But Mr. Sprinkle-Blow lives of the most unusual star of all, for it is the Nine-Hundred-and-Ninety-Ninth Kingdom of Fairyland, and contains all sorts of contraptions for making weather as well as storehouses for keeping it after it is made.

Also, and here's a thing you never did know until this time, the house of the Nuisance Fairies are there. They have to stay there whether they like it or not, Jack Frost, Mr. Storm and Old Man Flood, Sizzly Dry Weather and the others.

It keeps Mr. Sprinkle-Blow busy as a drummer tending to these trouble some creatures and his weather, too. He has to watch 'em like anything for if they all had their way, earth people would have 40 kinds of weather at once. Of course, Mr. Sun helps a lot for Mr. Storm and Jack Frost are as good as pie when he is around, but Mr. Sprinkle-Blow is pretty busy.

And it was to help Mr. Sprinkle-Blow that Nancy and Nick, twins, with magic green wishing shoes, wished. So you see they were going to be pretty busy.

HELPING BOOM BUSINESS

Put America's Crop in Reach of Starving Millions!

BY HERBERT QUICK

Washington, May 27.—What stands in the way of better times?

The great big thing which keeps us poor and idle and miserable is the failure of farm crops to move. I am going to tell you how to move them. To move them now. Not in 1922, not in 1923, but in this year of grace, 1921.

Business has a log-jam across the stream of recovery. I am going to tell you how we may climb down the face of the jam and cut the key-log that holds all the rest back and prevents the great part of products from floating down to market.

Don't stop reading. This is the real goods. It is not mine. I am merely the instrument through which this paper is to tell you about it.

But first let me say why I call farm products the key-log in the business jam.

First, farm products lead all others in value and tonnage. And they are stopped dead in their tracks. They lie on the farmers' hands like an ice crop in Greenland just as if nobody wanted them. And the world is starving for them!

People who could pay for them if they had the change are dropping down by the road sides and dying for them. Women are pressing starved infants to dry breasts.

People are eating the bark of trees and filling their agonized stomachs with clay and earth to stave the pangs of starvation. They go naked and barefooted for lack of them. God never looked down on this world so agonized, so dead to hope, so lost to promise as now.

Meanwhile America's Crops Rot

And our crops are rotting on our hands, our farmers are unable to pay their debts, many fields are going untillied, our wonderful farming class are beginning to doubt the Divine guidance of the world, because nobody can buy their wheat and corn and fat stock and cotton and wool.

If the devil had had the making of things all to his own infernal will, he couldn't have schemed out a worse fix for the world. For it is ruining the world financially, morally, and spiritually.

And if the farm crops could move to market, the hungry and naked could be fed and clothed, the idle could be set to work, the farmers could begin to buy and build and pay their debts, the factories could begin to operate.

Saint Paul Man Feels Like A Different Man Since Tanlac Freed Him Of Troubles.

"I have gained ten pounds in weight since I began taking Tanlac, which I consider remarkable for a man of my age, as I am now sixty-seven," said Andy Clement of 533 Marshall street, St. Paul, Minn.

"I suffered for four years from a bad case of stomach trouble, my appetite was gone and what little I forced myself to eat seemed to do me more harm than good, for I suffered terribly with indigestion after every meal. I was so badly crippled by my rheumatism I could hardly get about. My kidneys were badly out of order and I had severe pains in my back. I was so nervous and restless I never slept well and felt all tired out on getting up. I lost weight constantly and felt so tired and worn out it was always hard for me to get through my days work.

"But I believe Tanlac has given me a new lease on life. My appetite is now splendid and I never feel a touch of indigestion. I never feel any pains from rheumatism, and I can get about without any trouble. These pains have left my back and my kidneys don't bother me at all. I sleep at night just like a healthy boy and wake up in the morning feeling fine. It's easy for me to do my work now, and the fact is I don't feel like the same man since taking Tanlac."

Tonight is amateur night at the Rex. Thomas Meighan, who is showing at the Eltinge today in "The City of Silent Men," as Jim Montgomery became entangled in a web of circumstantial evidence so convincing that he was sent to prison for an act of which he was innocent. Upon getting away from prison he travels across the continent from New York to California in an effort to cover a past, which although unjustly so, had placed a mark upon him. It is a role of appeal and power for which no player better suited than Thomas Meighan could have been selected. Lois Wilson is the girl in the story and Kate Bruce the mother. The picture will be shown tomorrow, Saturday, also.

AT THE BISMARCK

A five-year-old boy was speaking. "This is my second trip to Florida," he said. "I like it so much that I think I shall buy an estate here."

The child was Lawrence Johnston, who can boast of having sat in the laps of stars, including Mary Pickford, Marguerite Clark, Elsie Ferguson and Mae Murray. Lawrence is a big favorite at the Famous Players studio in New York. Once he has played in a picture with a feminine star, she is sure to request that he be given a part in her next one. The result is that Lawrence is dated up for months ahead and is as hard to get as a telephone number.

Master Johnston has a prominent role in the George Fitzmaurice production, "The Right to Love," in which Mae Murray and David Powell are featured at the Bismarck Theatre next week. It was while making scenes for this picture in Florida that Lawrence announced his proposed real estate venture there.

York, S. C., May 27.—There are more wealthy bachelors in this town of 3,500 inhabitants than in any other town in South Carolina, according to Rev. T. Tracy Wash, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Episcopal. He has been making an investigation of the matter over the state. "One always finds a lot of old maids in a town," says Rev. Wash, "but I know of no town having so many bachelors—wealthy bachelors who ought to marry."

live has this advertising been that it has molded the nation's thought. Pick up a school textbook in history. Not one mention is made of national achievement in agriculture, although the names of Babcock, McCormick and others stand out strongly in comparison with the captains of industry; finance and war. Nowhere in the appeal that comes from the industry for the services of the youths is there any mention of work. Yet there it is in plenty, in about the same quantity as is found on the farm.

Figures indicate that only four out of every hundred are self-supporting at the age of 65 and of these four, three live in the country. Omitting the very wealthy, the farm boys and girls have a greater chance of acquiring something than the city cousins.

Club work is playing an important part here in American agriculture. It is teaching that there is a reward only for the one who struggles and that chances for reward and interest are great on the farm as they are in any other line. It is advertising farming as a vocation to the farm boys and girls. It is giving the farm a "fair chance" in the call it makes upon the youth to enter the agricultural army and through intelligent effort gather his reward. It is offering the youth who is rural minded an opportunity to see that which he knows most about in the most favorable light.

In these days of readjustment following the war, the young men and women are apt to hear some discouraging word passed in the excitement of debate and discussion of the future of agriculture. A feeling of class hatred may spring up, or there may be spread among them the feeling that the future of agriculture is rather dark; but, in fact, all the excitement and conflict is nothing but an aftermath of the war. Of all the industries, agriculture is the soundest. Man will require his daily supply of food and clothing. It must come from the farms. Pluries may occur now and then, but over a series of years agriculture will reward the industrious people of the future as it has in the past. That spirit of faith is renewed with each generation and club members are the leaders in renewing that faith.

AGGRESSIVE BUYING.
Chicago, May 27.—Although as a result of general rains the wheat market today underwent a moderate decline, prices later scored a quick advance, aggressive buying on the part of houses with eastern connections having much to do with the sudden reversal. Opening prices, which ranged from 3-4 to 2 cents lower, were followed by a rise to well above yesterday's finish.

Subsequently word of a violent break in foreign exchange turned the wheat market downward more than offsetting news that France had authorized unrestricted importation of wheat and that President Harding was about to sign the emmer-only tariff bill. Prices closed nervous, unchanged to 1-4 cents lower.

SOLDIERS' DAY ON PROGRAM OF FAIR AT FORKS

Reunion of 164th Regiment Is Planned at State Exhibition

WALLACE TO VISIT N. D.

Grand Forks, May 27.—In keeping with plans to have each day of fair represent state-wide organizations, Secretary E. R. Montgomery of the North Dakota state fair held a conference yesterday with Col. J. H. Finkle of Grafton and Maj. B. C. Boyde of Grand Forks, representing the American Legion of North Dakota and the 164th regiment, with the result that Wednesday, July 20th, was set aside as American Legion day at the state fair. American Legion officials, it is stated, will urge every member of their organization to attend the state fair on that day, and to take part in the exercises and ceremonies.

Plans have also been arranged for a reunion of the 164th regiment at the same time and Secretary Montgomery expects to have the biggest special day attendance in the history of the state fair. A survey of the rooming facilities of the city is now being made to accommodate the visitors. With excellent weather predicted for the week of July 18th to 23rd, Secretary Montgomery expects a gross attendance of over 150,000 for the six days.

Word received from Washington D. C., this morning indicates that Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace will visit the state fair either on the 18th or 19th, as a special guest of the North Dakota state fair in co-operation with the North Dakota State Farm Bureau Federation. The day will be designated as Farm Bureau day and farmers from all over the state have written Secretary Montgomery that they are coming to hear Secretary Wallace, who is scheduled to deliver an address on the "New Agriculture." Secretary Wallace is a strong booster for co-operative marketing and it is expected that he will discuss the new movements along that line, with special reference to North Dakota.

CROP REPORTS SHOWING GOOD IN NORTHWEST

Condition in Dry Areas Better Than Usual This Early in Season

The Van Dusen Harrington company, of Minneapolis, in its weekly crop report says:

Practically all of our reports from the country this week indicate an optimistic feeling on the Northwestern crop prospects. During the past few days the weather conditions have been very favorable. The heavy frosts of last week were followed by good rains and warm weather and conditions improved wonderfully.

Fields that were frosted and brown are now coming out green and making rapid growth. Apparently the cold weather did not do a small amount of damage. At nearly all points there is sufficient moisture to carry the crops for some time.

The general crop conditions in the dry districts of western North Dakota and eastern Montana are the best in several years.

At present there are no indications of damage by cutworms or grasshoppers.

From now on the size of the crops will depend upon the weather. They have a fine start, being earlier than the average. The plants are strong and well rooted, and for this reason, will be better able to withstand adverse conditions.

Corn planting is still in progress as wet weather has delayed it for some extent. Indications point to a reduced corn acreage in the North-west. A considerable quantity of oats for seed has recently been shipped into western North Dakota and eastern Montana.

There is great interest being manifested in the flax situation. We cannot, however, see any indications of an increase in acreage over our former estimates. Some of the flax which apparently was being held for seed, in the western territory, is being shipped out. Farmers are inclined to sow flax grains where their flax crops have failed during the past two or three seasons.

Some of the winter rye in Minnesota is headed and is exceptionally early but there are some evidences of winter killing. While the stand is not heavy, the condition is about the average.

LOGAN'S

"We Thank You"

We agree with President Harding when he said, if the farmer needs help, same can be given to him without hurting any other class of people. This holds good in business conducted in our store. We aim to treat every customer with the same consideration. We also expect to be clean with our competitors. A long time since we came to the conclusion that any thinking person did not expect to get something for nothing so we strive to buy the best goods the market affords, and in turn sell them at a reasonable profit.

We have a few army beans that are a good buy a 3-lb. can at 2 for 25 cents. Don't think these are 50 cent beans; still we are taking a slight loss on same our loss your gain.

A large jar of mustard which we wish to discontinue at 19 cents.

A few packages of Heinz Apple Butter, 2-lb. size 53 cents. 1-lb. size, 28 cents.

We will have a good supply of fresh vegetables, such as cucumbers, egg plant, carrots, lettuce, green onions, asparagus, new potatoes. These will be offered at very popular prices.

Strawberries and Fresh Cream.

This is the season of the year when salads are on nearly every menu. Heinz salad and table vinegar will give that salad just the right flavor.

If you are particular about getting good food then we solicit your patronage because we are particular to get the best the market affords.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—
Double Strength

This preparation for the removal of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.
